MARYSVILLE, TN., (5/16/2023) - Smith & Wesson Brands, Inc. (NASDAQ Global Select: SWBI), a leader in firearm manufacturing and design, announces today the release of three Classic Series No-Lock revolvers that include a Model 36, Model 10, and Model 19.

Crafted with the finest materials and precision engineering, this new line of revolvers displays iconic features, now enhanced to meet the demands of today's shooters. Leading off this new line is the S&W® Model 36 Classic, a 5-Plate chambered in 38 Special +P that has a 5-shot capacity, which includes a 1.88-inch barrel with a fixed blade front sight, an integral rear-in-frame rear sight, and a classic checkered wood grip. Its design also incorporates a blued carbon steel frame and cylinder, which not only enhance its visual appeal but also provides durability.

Moving on to the K-Frames, this series offers two 6-shot revolvers, the S&W® Model 10 Classic chambered in 38 Special +P and the S&W® Model 19 Classic chambered in .357 Magnum. The new Model 10 includes a 4-inch barrel with a fixed blade front sight, an integral rear-in-frame rear sight, blued carbon steel frame and cylinder, and high grade Tyler Gun Works walnut grips. If you prefer a .357 magnum, the new Model 19 Classic is a great one add to the collection. It features a 4.25-inch barrel with a red wney insert front sight, adjustable black blade rear sight, blued carbon steel frame and cylinder, and is completed with a time-honored checkered wood grip.

All three of these exciting new Classic Series revolvers exhibit unique characteristics, but they also share similarities. Some features shared across the series include a traditional frame with no internal lock, a single or double action firing capability, and smooth trigger pull for ultimate performance. Experience the perfect blend of timeless elegance and cutting-edge technology with Smith & Wesson Classics, and elevate your collection with unmatched quality and heritage.
