

Bushnell

The background of the image is a misty, hazy landscape. On the left side, there is a large, dark tree with many leaves. In the foreground, there is a dense, green forest. The middle ground is filled with a thick mist or fog, obscuring the details of the landscape. The sky is a pale, hazy grey.

A forgotten wilderness twice the size of Belgium
Rivers and mountains no white man has yet seen
The white patch on the map

Welcome to the last frontier...
